What is CUES Learning Portal?

CUES Learning Portal, powered by Degreed is a content curation site available to CUES members. The platform offers curated content aligned to your identified topics and skills to provide you with resources to develop your skills and talents. A blend of pre-set learning pathways and curated content offer an easy way to expand your skillset in just about any business topic you can imagine. From leadership and coaching to creative writing and data science, from communication to innovation and strategy to customer service, we have what you are looking to learn.

What are Pathways?

Pathways are a compilation of curated content focused on a specific topic. Each pathway includes sections, breaking down the topic content into manageable pieces. Also included in each pathway are 3 sections:

- Build Your Skill: provides recommendations for tasks or actions you can take to apply knowledge gained within the pathway content
- Learn More: offers additional resources to review to continue your learning within a topic. These recommendations may include premium content, books, courses or other resources that may have an associated cost or require additional time to complete.
- Certificate of Completion: request a certificate of completion once you have completed all content within the pathway.

How to Use a Pathway?

Find a pathway of interest and complete an individual section or the pathway in full to develop your knowledge and skills. Share a pathway with a peer or direct report and engage in conversation around the content.

What are Plans?

Plans are a collection of relevant Skills, Pathways, and learning content items that can help learners improve their skills in their current positions or prepare them for new roles (including promotions and career shifts). Included in each plan are 3 sections:

- Top Skills: A list of in-demand skills for the role, aligned to content in the plan
- Pillars: Curated content organized by pillars related to the role
- Additional CUES Resources: Articles, Podcast episodes, Videos and more from the CUES library

How to Use a Plan?

Find a plan of interest and identify the skills and related content that best align to your development goals and your organization's needs. Use plans as a roadmap to help guide you over time in your new or future role.

Learning Plan: Board Meeting Management

Governing your credit union is a demanding task. Board governance is about establishing and maintaining your credit union's reputation and exhibiting the value the board creates for your credit union. To carry out its responsibilities to members, boards must constantly evaluate not only the credit union's safety, soundness, financial performance, leadership, and quality of service, but also their own effectiveness. The best boards maintain effectiveness during meetings, focus meetings on strategic issues as opposed to short-term managerial concerns, and effectively manage group dynamics to ensure meetings are productive.
